Beck Continues his Remarks---Lewis of Ala. Puts the Question Right. The South not Solid in the Sense Intended. Congress.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 16.—Under call of the Committee this morning Stephens, of Georgia, chairman of the committee on coinage, weights and measures of subsidiary coin for legal tender money in sums of ten dollars and multiples thereof, and making such coin legal tender in all sums not exceeding twenty dollars. The report of the committee states that the bill is based upon petitions referred to the committee. Conger, of Michigan, raised to a point of order that no bill on the subject had been referred to the committee, and that therefore the committee had no right to make a report.

SENATE—The Senate resumed consideration of the Army bill and Mr. Beck continued his remarks. Beck said Democrats were determined on their first access to power to repeal laws passed in time of war unsuitable to time of peace, and forming dangerous precedents which would become fundamental principles of system of government, is left alone. He quoted freely from histories authors to show pernicious results of military interference with civil functions and to refute the assertion of Hoar that the money had not been withheld by the Commons to force Kings to consent to legislation.

The Committee on privileges and elections' to-day, commenced hearing of argument in the Shafford-Kellogg case upon the question whether or not an action of the Senate hitherto has made controversy less adjudicata. Ex-Congressman Shellabarger began argument in maintenance of this proposition and will be further heard to-morrow.

Beck continued his remarks upon the Army bill. He said rather than the army be used as it had been and as it might be again, he would favor its abolition and establish a militia.

Dawes followed in opposition to pending the measure. During his speech he yielded to Mr. Butler, of South Carolina, who stated that his colleague, Wade Hampton, was present and ready to take his seat. Mr. Hampton on crutches was led forward by Mr. Butler and sworn in by the President pro tem, Mr. Thurman, taking the modified oath.

The House in committee of the whole resumed consideration on the Legislative appropriation bill. After discussion the amendment to repeal, after March 1880, the acts caeating Southern Claims Commission and to transfer to the Court of Claims all cases then pending before the Commission was rejected. The Committee disposed of all the bill except the portions specially reserved for general discussion being the provision in respect to the mode of selecting grand and petit jurors test oath, and also in respect to Supervisors of election and Deputy Marshals. The debate commenced. Lewis, of Alabama, made a legal argument against the election laws, and denied that the "South was solid" for any illegal or unconstitutional purpose, or out of antagonism to the North. Sam Ford, of Alabama, also argued upon the necessity and justice of repealing the jurors test oath and modifying the Supervisors of Elections.

The Treasurer's Circular.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 46.—The Secretary of the Treasuary, in his circular issued to-day, offers at one half of one per cent. above par, and accrued interest to date of subscription, $150,000,000 of the four per cent. funded loan of the United States, the proceeds to be applied to the redemption of United States ten-forty bonds. In addition to this amount $44,566,300 of these bonds being the residue of the sum needed to redeem the ten forty bonds will be reversed for the conversion of ten dollar refunding certificates.

THE WORK OF THIEVES.

Successful though Small Haul---Wilmington Street the Scene of Operation.

The thieves have not yet ceased their deeds of darkness, and Tuesday night revisited their now favorite place of operation, Wilmington Street. The place which received their undesirable attentions this time was the store of Johnson & Barber, wherein is kept a stock of groceries and liquors. The store is on the east side of the street, is two stories in height, and closely walled in by other buildings. At a very early hour yesterday morning Mr. Barber entered the store and soon saw that the cash till was gone. Walking to the rear of the room he found it on the floor. To tear it from its place in the counter of the bar, the thief had ripped off the top of the patent till, and then prized it away from its fastenings. Mr. Barber opened the back door of the store, and looking out saw that a heavy ladder, some thirty feet in length, had been the mode of entering of the unlawful visitor. The yard in the rear of the store is very small, and surrounded by a fence some eight feet high. Over this reached the ladder, whose foot rested in the yard of the store next door; and thence went up to a rear window on the second floor of the store entered. Stepping back into the store to discover the extent of his loss, Mr. Barber found the contents of the till tossed about. From it had been taken some two or three dollars in small coin, all in it at the time. So far as yet ascertained a silver watch worth $6 and a few bottles of liquor were the only goods taken.

Inquiries were next made of parties near by as to the occurrence. The Messrs. Goodwin, who room over their store, two doors above, said that about 11.30 p. m. they heard a noise as if caused by the smashing of glass. Noises were also heard by parties on the other side and across the square, and a dog in a back yard was almost wild with rage and barked incessantly.

THE FUTURE OF CALIFORNIA.

No Strong Attachment to the Union--Policy of the Landowners---Effects of toe Climate.

N. Y. Tribune.

An Eastern journalist, who has returned from California after three years' experience of newspaper work in San Francisco, said of affairs on the Pacific coast in a recent conversation: "The people care very little about what goes on in the East. Their attachment to the Union is not strong. If there should ever arise a second secession movement it will not be in the South, but in California. The Democrats there are hostile to the Union—often openly so—and the Republicans are indifferent. One often hears talk of a Pacific Coast republic. There is much complaint of the ignorance and carelessness of Congress with regard to the interests of the coast. The land legislation, for example, is all adapted to a region of verdure, and is consequently not at all adapted to an arid, sage-brush region where agriculture depends on irrigation. There is not much inducement for emigration to California, and none at all for men to go without capital. The policy of the great landowners is to discourage immigration. Their plan has been to divide society into two classes, wealthy proprietors and a proletariat. I am glad to see that a few landholders are taking a new course and dividing their immense estates into small tracts. California would support double or treble her present rural population. but the land system must be radically changed and the facilities for irrigation developed and utilized. Pretty much all the land that can be profitably cultivated without irrigation is already occupied.

"The peculiar climate of California will eventually develop a peculiar population. I think one sees signs of this already in the younger generation. In San Francisco, where fogs prevail, the young people are plump, rosy-cheeked, handsome, rather indolent and fond of pleasure, while those born and reared in the arid interior are somewhat like the Arabs—dark, slender and supple. I don't think there will ever be a robust intellectual life in San Francisco. The climate is equable. Music and the arts will flourish as they do in Italy and it is possible that their intercourse with Asia will develop a tendency to mysticism in philosophy and religion. The future of California and the whole Pacific coast is a fertile field for speculation, and its present condition is an interesting subject of study.'

The Cow Nuisance.

Correspondence of the News.

Realizing the power of the press and especially the influence exerted by your valuable paper, I am constrained to ask a short space in your columns, to attract the people's attention to this important subject.

There is not, perhaps, another city in Christendom claiming the 15,000 inhabitants that Raleigh possesses, where cows without let or hinderance, are permitted to run at large.

Ladies and children are continually being frightened almost out of their wits by the hostile demonstrations of these animals upon the public thoroughfares of this city, and are not infrequently hurt by them.

It has come to be an axiom in law and practice, that we poor humans, who are so unfortunate as to possess a yard or back garden, with a stray flower or collard stump therein, have no rights which the starved cow of our neighbor is bound to respect; but in one brief night both are suddenly divested of everything green by these vegetable-devouring monsters.

Gates stand no show at all. Why the writer of this article, after trying innumerable experiments, for their permanent expulsion, in the way of chains, hooks and every conceivable kind of latch, has actually had to nail up the gate, as the only means of salvation left.

Is there no remedy for this? None! Unless you go into the cow-killing business, and unless you've got a 'mint' of money, you cannot engage in that long.

If you kill one you've got to pay ten times its value—and this reminds me: A sorely stricken citizen here instructed his servant to keep the stock out of his grounds, and the boy, one day finding a drove of hogs therein, caught one and divested it of its candal appendage, no doubt cherishing the hope that it would act as a gentle reminder to Mr. Hoggy, and cure him of the practice of trespassing in the future; well the owner of the nog thinking it somewhat impaired the looks of his "swiney" suggested to the city authorities that he might have some damages, and thereupon, the said citizen was required to "fork over" a V.

Five dollars for a pig's tail! Just suppose one were to kill a cow! It would take a young fortune to repair the "damages."

They say "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." Oh! Messrs. Aldermen, in the name of all that is charitable, give us "one ounce."

It would be a splendid beginning for the new board when they are elected to begin their labors by enacting an ordinance governing this matter.

Let us have that or the no-fence law.

A PERPETUAL MOTION MAN.

A Colored Man Constructs a Machine to Produce Power Cheap.

Cleveland Leader

Mr. J. H. Dunnington, a colored blacksmith of Clevelend, Ohio, reported by the Leader to have sought to solve the problem of perpetual motion, has actually invented a cheap motive power. The Leader says: On arriving the reporter was ushered into a side room, in the middle of which appeared to be a ponderous wheel, minus a felly, the spokes being large and heavy looking, The axis is produced each side of the upright bearings, before reaching which, however, the shaft is shaped into two cranks, one on each side of the aforesaid wheel, extending in opposite directions and so constructed as to prevent the machine coming to a dead center. From each side of the cranks hangs a short piston rod, which are to work inside of a stationary pipe or cylinder, which is extended down to the floor, then across under the wheel and coming up again to meet the other short piston rod. From these cranks also very heavy weights are pendant, which are fitted with heavy rubber springs or bumpers, which lighten the weight and permit the wheel to pass the center, and then assisted by the weight on the other crank, continue the revolution. The piston and cylinder before mentioned assist in the other work by atmospheric pressure. But to return to the wheel. Some of the spokes are curved and others are very heavy. All are hollow, even what might be termed the hub, several holes running in as many different directions without at all intersecting. The spokes are to be filled with a fluid which Mr. Dunnington prepares after a receipt, the secret of which is known only to himself. This fluid, by the action of centrifugal force, and the force of gravity, is propelled toward the extremities as any one of the spokes reaches a vertical position. In the larger spokes are complicated springs which aid in the passage to and fro of the fluid.

The above are the main points in the description of the machine, and the fly wheels which transmit the power are placed one on each end of the shaft. The inventor claims that very little remains to be done to finish the machine, when the future destiny of cheap motive power will be solved. The man has evidently worked faithfully at his task, the machine certainly showing much ingenuity on the part of the inventor.

THE insurance case of Col. Dwight, of Binghamton, N. Y., has again come to the front. He had his life insured for $365,000. If he had died on the fifteenth of the month, on which he did die, the proceeds of his insurance would have gone to his creditors, he being discharged from bankruptcy on that date. If he had lived till the nineteeth, the policies would have lapsed, for he could not have paid the premiums on them. He had just three days to die in so as to benefit his family, and he died punctually on the night of the fifteenth.

THE HALIFAX ALSTONS.

A NORTH CAROLINA FAMILY.

An Old Family Physician Relates the Story.---Early Progeny of the Alstons---The Leading People of the State &c..

Editor Marshall (Texas) Messenger:

I have read the communications submitted to me by you, and at your request will endeavor to correct the discrepancies published in relation to the genealogy and conduct of the Alston family. Having been the physician in the Alston family for nearly half a century; a kinsman; and the husband of Mary Clark Alston, of Wake Forest, North Carolina, of whom; Viator in the Galveston Daily News says, "She was highly accomplished, a perfect blonde, of commanding beauty, and famous throughout the State." The Alstons came from England; as I have indubitable proof from wills, portraits and heir-looms still in the family. Samuel, Thomas and William settled in Bute, now Warren county, Willis in Halifax county, before the revolution. They were brothers. Their cousins went to South Carolina. The descendants, Thomas and Samuel of the Warren stock, settled on the lands in Wake county, North Carolina, owned by the father of Thomas Hart Benton. Willis, Sr., and his brother William, were members of the Congress at Halifax town, 1776, and were appointed colonels in the Continental army in April, and were re-elected in November, 1776, to form the Constituttion of North Carolina. All the family were patriotic and amongst the first to declare for independence.

Philip, another descendant from the Warren stock, settled on Hickory mountain in Chatham county, and was equally patriotic; for which cause he was captured by David Faning, a loyal and bold tory, and delivered to the Royal Governor Martin at Wilmington. The aid and comfort afforded to Generals Marion and Green by the Alstons in South Carolina are historical facts. Two of those brothers, John and Robert, were Governors of that state. The first named married Aaron Burr's daughter, who was lost at sea; and Col. Wm. Alston, of Charleston, married a daughter of Mrs. Rebecca Motte, who cheerfully permitted Generals Marion and Lee to burn her palatial mansion with arrows, to capture the British command in Forte Motte. Washington Alston, poet, artist and painter, removed to Massachusetts, and one of her towns bears his name.

Willis, Sr., of Halifax, married the daughter of Gideon H. Macon and the sister of the Hon. Nathaniel Macon, of Warren county, to whom was born the Hon. Willis Alston, who was a member of Congress from 1803 till 1831, and Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means during the war of 1813. Joseph, Gideon and Robert—the last named was the father of Willis, Augustus and Gideon, of Georgia. He married Henrietta Green, of Warren county, a sister of Solomon Green, one of the adoptors of the Constitution of the United States, and of John C. Green, a colonel in the war of 1812. She was a lady of superior endowments of mind and person, and nearly every year visiten her kin in North Carolina in a coach and four. The Hon. M. W. Ransom, of the United States Senate and Major General Robert Ransom of the Confederate army were her nephews, and likewise was Gen Thomas J. Green, one of the heroes of Texas Independence and of the Mier Expedition into Mexico. Robert lived in Sparta, Georgia, in regal splendor. Their children were educated at the first colleges. Gideon was accidentally killed. Augustus was one of the finest specimens of a gentlemen in mind, manners and person I ever knew, and but for his sympathies and devotion to his friends his duels with Brown of Georgia, and Reed of Florida would not have been fought. Willis was excitable and ungovernable when he conceived himself, or his friends injured.

A half century has elapsed since, and their conduct should not be judged by the present standard of morals, as dueling then was encouraged and practiced by the first men in and out of Congress.

Willis married a Methodist Minister's daughter, Miss Howard, celebrated for her beauty and accomplishments, who inculcated her religious principles in the heart of her only child, Col. Robert A. Alston, which governed his actions throughout his life. He kept a diary of his conduct and the occurrences of each day, and when he was captured with General Morgan's cavalry—to which he belonged—this journal inspired his captors with so much sympathy and respect for his character that he was soon released and amply provided for. He was a genius, noble, brave and handsome, and indefatigable in all he undertook. I have been long and intimately acquainted with the Alston family—save with the oldest ones, and can conscienciously affirm that I never knew so large and distinguished a family as theirs, more peaceful, civil, refined and generous. They were provident, rich without ostentation, devotedly clannish to each other, and liberal to their friends and neighbors. By marriage they became associated with very many of the most intelligent and influential families throughout the Southern States. to-wit: Thomas Hart Benton, Jefferson Davis, Colonel William, President and Major General Leonidas Polk, George E. Badger, Stephen and Sherwood Haywood, Louis D. Henry, General Blount and Branch, Williams, Dickens, Burtons, Hawkins, Greens, Sommervilles, Cunninghams, Macons, Battles, Seawells, McLemores and I. G. Harris, Dukes, Jones of Warren and Wake, Rayners, Conners, Barringers, Eatons, and last though not least, the late Col. W. R. D. Ward, of your city, whose genius and energy organized and started the first railroad to the Pacific, and was its first president. Hundreds of other families might be mentioned. Amongst them were four United States Senators, five Governors, eight members of the House of Representatives, and several judges.

A NORTH CAROLINIAN.

Science and Religion.

NEW BERNE, N. C.

Correspondence of the News.

MESSRS. EDITORS: Not very long since "The News" copied from one of its exchanges, an appeal from a churchman to the clergy, begging them to leave for a while, at least, the discussion of theological questions, and boldly face the theory of evolution, which the writer feared was undermining the faith of many, while the clergy were occupied with things of the past. In the "Popular Science monthly," for March, there is a paper called, 'Atheism and the church,' from the pen of the Rev. G. H. Curters, a cannon of the church of England, in which this appeal is forcibly seconded, not as referring to the hypothesis of evolution, but to the necessity of re-adjusting theological teachings so as to meet contempory science. "To the Greeks became I as a Greek," says St. Paul, and canon Curters in the same spirit, urges on the clergy of the church of England, that if they would save their church from being trampled down and its time honored frame work given up as a spurt to chaos, they must become Englishmen of the nineteenth century. Speaking to Englishmen of the nineteenth century, he says, "the church must not part company with the world, she is commissioned to evangelize; she must awake from her renaissance and her mediaeval dreams; to turn over on her couch and try, by conscious effort, to dream those dreams again, when daylight has come and all the house is fully astir, this surely were the height of faithless folly." He emphatically says, evolution there has certainly been, and ably traces the progress of man's moral and religious development in the Semitic and European races, till the culminating point was reached, "when the human-divine of Asiatic speculation, and the divinely-human of European phylosophy met and coalesced, and from that wedlock emerged christianity." Of the doctrine of pnysical evolution, he says: "To a large and increasing number of churchmen, the evolution hypothesis appears, not only profusedly interesting, but probably true. They find there nothing to shake their faith, and a good deal to confirm it. Man is what he is, in what ever way he became so. And here Atheists can persuade themselves that this beautiful theory of the divine method helps their denial of a deity, the modern schools of theologians is at a loss to understand," He truly says, "The church has had experience over and over again, how easy and how disastrous it is to banish from the door an unwelcome guest who was perhaps, nothing less than an angel in disguise." Yet of late years, he adds, "it has been honestly confessed by divines, that the oldest and the youngest, of the natural science, astronomy and geology, so far from being dangerous, seem providentially destined to counteract a low and narrow materialism by giving men a higher ideal of the God they ought to worship. "No one can listen to ordinary sermons, no one can open popular books of piety, or doctrine, without feeling the urgent need there is among churchmen for a higher appreciation of the majestic infinitude of God." In urging the clergy to be up and doing, he warns them against two mistakes: first, "that of abusing modern science, and deprecating its unquestionable difficulties in relation to the established theology; and second, the still more fatal blunder of trusting to worn out tactics and to the 'artillery' of Jonothan and David for the reduction of these earth work."

"No success will be obtained, however, unless churchmen will remember that the vast domains recently conquered by science are (practically speaking) assured and certain conquests."

"Theology," says another English divine of the present day, "accepts every certain conclusion of physical science as man's unfolding of God's book of nature." And when men can realize that theology is not religion they will cease to fear that true religion can be injured by true science, or dread even the hypothesis of man's physical, mental, moral and religious development from the dust of the earth, of which he was formed by the Lord God.

NICE LEGISLATORS.

A Newspaper Correspondent Stirs Up the Illinois Menagerie.

TO THE SPEAKER AND GENTLEMEN OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. In my published dispatches to the Chicago Tribune from Springfield, I have hinted at some of the vices which have disgraced your body. I have by no means told all the truth; but, perhaps for the reputation of the Thirty-first General Assembly, and the honor of the State, enough has already been said. Yet I feel constrained to add that there was a time when it was esteemed an honor to sit in your House; but there are honorable, high-minded gentlemen upon the floor to-day who feel humbled by the conduct of some of their fellow-members, and are ashamed to be there. Members of the General Assembly have visited the newspaper offices in Chicago with stories of jobs and bribery which have caused the editors of those papers to suppose that this Legislature was little else than a banditti preying upon the interests of the State, and have begged the press to stir up this frog-pond of filth covered with the green scum of corruption. It is a well-known fact that the dens of vice with which this city is crowded are nightly filled with members of your body. For evidence of this, your Investigating Committee have but to call upon the police of Springfield, or the gamins, gutter-snipes and tramps who infest the town, or upon the blear-eyed bawds who are the partners of their commerce, among whom these facts are notorious. From these places of infamy they straightway hie and seat themselves at the social board among the wives and daughters of the best citizens of Springfield.

It has been stated in the nature of complaint against the press that the people of Illinois are beginning to think that the Thirty-first General Assembly is a vagabond, worthless body. The press is not responsible for any ill opinion the people may have of it, for the reason that nothing has yet been published in any newspaper that these members have not said themselves.

It has been said by a member of the House (Mr. Scroggs) that the Trinune has always been engaged in stirring up investigations, and that Mr. Joseph Medill, its chief editor, would never forgive this Legislature for electing John A. Logan to the United Stats Senate. It seems strange that the honor of this House should be so suddenly wounded when it is notorious on the streets of Springfield that acts a hundred fold more disreputable than anything which have yet been published are occurring, and when the current opinion escapes criticism the Speaker of the House bartered his vote for United States Senator for the position he now holds.

I have been called upon for the source of my information. What I know was given to me by a gentleman of the House, whose veracity is unimpachable, and whose standing is as high as that of any, under the strictest pledge of secrecy. If an exposure of some of the notorious practice of the members of this Assembly is seeking self-martyrdom, as the gentleman from Coles (Mr. Neal) has asserted on the floor of the House, then I acknowledge myself open to the charge of seeking self-martrydom. The gentleman from Coles also says: "It seems to be the business of newspapers to make promiscuous charges." Probably he considers that the publication of the names of the members of the General Assembly who recently made the tour of the bawdy-houses of St. Louis was a promiscuous charge! FRANK E. NEVINS, Correspondent Chicago Tribune.

THE death of a New York man from pyæmia, or blood poisoning, occasioned, as the attending physician decides, by poisonous matter received from the outside of silver coin or nickles which he had tested by biting, is another illustration of the case with which poisonous virus is transmitted. One of the New York Health Board says similar instances of infection are alarmingly common.

ANOTHER WAR CLOUD.

ENGLAND AND FRANCE AGAINST EGYPT.

The Khedive Disagreeable.---His Opposition to the Powers---Fears of a Conflict.

N. Y. Tribune.

A dispatch from Cairo states that business is completely suspended, and is likely to remain so until the decision of England and France is known. The Government is collecting money throughout the provinces, using every means of compulsion. An immediate levy of 10,000 soldiers has been ordered. A special envoy has been sent by the Khedive to Constantinople. He took with him a large sum of money for the Sultan.

The Khedive's opposition to England and France appears to have been well-timed. Last month these nations demanded that the two European members of his Cabinet should have conjointly an absolute veto on all measures they might deem inadvisable. They also stipulated that the Khedive was not under any circumstances to take part in the deliberations of the Council of Ministers. The Khedive meekly accepted these terms, but in less than a month he has dismissed the European ministers, and is now busily engaged in collecting taxes and enrolling troops. England and France are of course, dissatisfied, but on consideration they find that they are practicaly powerless. The Sultan is ready to oblige England so far as to depose the Khedive, but it is supposed that the latter would resist this decree, and proba bly declare himself independent. Unless, therefore, England and France have recourse to force the Khedive may act as he sees fit; and as neither nation is disposed to speak first, war seems out of the question.

The Khedive is now in his 49th year and there are reasons to believe that he has for some time entertained the ambition of throwing aside, to a certain extent, his subserviency to the Sultan and becoming an independent monarch. He has an army at his disposal consisting of 4 regiments of infantry numbering 12.000 men, a battalion of chasseurs 1,000 strong; 3,5000 cavalry, an excellent artillery service with 1,500 men and 2 battalions of engineers, which consist of 1,500 rank and file. Beside these there are 2 regiments of black troops from Soudan 10,000 strong His navy consists of 7 ships of the line, 6 frigates, 9 corvettes, 7 brigs, 18 gunboats and 27 wooden transport ships.

The financial scheme proposed by the Khedive, and which is the bone of contention between himself and the French and English bondholders, is based on the belief that, without at all increasing the taxes of the agricultural classes in Egypt, and by compelling the foreign residents of Egypt, now exempt from taxation, to bear their due proportion of the public burdens, a sum sufficient to pay the interest upon the bonded debt, and provide a sinking fund which in twenty years would extinguish the debt, can easily be raised. The conflict of opinion in political and financial circles here respecting this matter is becoming more acute; and although the bondholders have thus far to a great extent obtained the public ear, the other side of the question has its advocates, who will proobly make themselves heard in Parliament on its reassembling after the Easter recess.

[CONTRIBUTED.]

My Willie.

Art thou gone and left us here.
Child of our love,
To realms where thou shalt shed no tear,
In Heaven above;
Where praises will thy tongue employ,
Where happiness has no alloy,
There thou wilt be our angel boy,
My Willie.

Thy father thought that thou would be,
When age did come,
A pillar of great strength, that he Might lean upon;
Though thy young laugh was full of glee,
Thy father thought that time would see,
Thou weep for him, not him for thee.
My Willie.

Thy short sweet life was but a span,
My heart's first joy,
'Twas done, ere it was well begun,
My darling boy.
The evening saw thee bright and gay,
The midnight withering in delay.
And ere the sun shone, clay was clay.
My Willie.

Thy life was as a morning flower,
Whose gloom is shed,
And within a single hour,
For thou art dead,
Who now will cheer thy mother's heart,
Since thou who wast of her a part,
Has been laid low, by Death's dread dart?
My Willie.

But yet we hope to meet again,
Beyond the tomb,
Removed from scenes of grief and pain,
In heaven's home,
And dwell forever with thee there,
Beyond the reach of toil and care,
Where we each others joy will share.
My Willie.

Memorial Day at Newbern.

Nutshell.

We are glad to learn that the Hon. Alfred M. Waddell, of Wilmington, has accepted the invitation of our Ladies' Memorial Association to deliver the address here on Memorial Day.

Col. Waddell is a very pleasant speaker. His address before the Wilmington Association, and that to the Union soldiers of New York, were happy in conception, excellent in taste, and broad and statesmanlike in their views. The observance of Memorial Day with us is always an occasion of much interest and from the reputation of our orator for this year, we are safe in promising all who may attend—and we hope their names will be legion—that the exercises of the 10th of May next will be in no whit inferior to those of any previous year.

The Health of the People---A Word About the Frost---Presidential Preferences.

Correspondence of the News.

LILESVILLE, N. C., April 15.

There is considerable sickness hereabouts now, pneumonia, diarrhœa &c being prevalent, but no very serious cases reported.

Early wheat is injured by the late frosts and freezes, and some oats are killed. Of fruit we will have an entire failure. A few peaches, plumbs and cherries are left, but will most likely drop off, and a few apple trees are putting in a late appearance in the way of blooms. We ought not to complain; because we have had five successive big fruit crops; and I will remember when, if in two out of three years the April frosts did not destroy everything, we were well satisfied.

Gardens have suffered greatly, and early vegetables will be amongst the unenjoyable luxuries this spring.

Our Pee Dee people are for Thurman, Hendricks or Bayard in preference to Tilden; would prefer, probably Hancock or McClellan to any one of them; but they are ever of the leal and the true and will support the nominee.

A communication sent you some two weeks ago was not published, or if it was I never saw it, right enough probably. But there were some things in it that your Raleigh readers ought to have seen; and you ought to dig it up, out of the "waste basket" and dilate a wee bit on certain matters therein referred to. I mean the "trade" of this section, which by proper efforts Raleigh could secure.—More soon,

YAHOO.

THE Army Bill is in the Senate. The threat of a Presidential veto hangs over it. It is the boast of Americans that their Government is free—that it is the Government of the people, not of the Executive. We are wont to deplore the lack of liberty in Great Britain. It is spoken of in this country as melancholy. Our orators are shocked at the terrible power of a throne. Mr. Tucker reminded us a few days ago, quoting from "Hatsell's Precendents," of a fragment of English history:

"On the 17th of December, 1783, the House came to a resolution. 'That it is now necessary to declare that to report any opinion or pretended opinion of His Majesty upon any bill or other proceeding depending in either House of Parliament, with a view to influence the votes of the members, is a high crime and misdemeanor, derogatory to the honor of the Crown, a breach of the fundamental privileges of Parliament, and subversive of the Constitution of this country.'.

THE motto for the Grant boomers is, "Aut Cæsar aut nihil."

An Afternoon at the Bench Show.

Correspondence of the NEWS.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., April 12.

As a representative of the Hunting Club of Raleigh, an afternoon was spent at Gilmore's Garden, New York, before the close of the greatest Bench Show ever held in the world.

The catalogues contains nearly a thousand entries and embraces dogs of all varieties from nearly every portion of the world, such as mastiffs, rough and smooth-coated St. Bernards, Newfoundland and Siberians, greyhounds, deerhounds, pointers, English, Irish and Gordon setters, spaniels, fox hounds, beagles, daschunde, collies, couch dogs, terriers of every variety, pugs and poodles.

A number of celebrities were on exhibition. The Westminster Kennel Club exhibited the well known pointer, Sensation, lemon and white, five years old, winner of seven prizes in England, and thirteen prizes in America. His well known superiority caused his name to be excluded from the list of competitors.

Mess. Lincoln and Hellyar, Warren, Massachusetts, exhibited the champion pointer "Snapshot," lemon and white, nine years old, winner of twelve prizes in Europe and America, who proved to be the champion of the Bench Show of 1879 by bearing away the first prize.

The display of English setters was extraordinary, embracing scores of prize winners.

The black and tan setters exhibited by the Nassau Kennel Club of St. Louis, Missouri, were of a fine order and much admired by sportsmen.

"Rory O'More," three years old, exhibited by Wm. N. Callendar, Greenbush, N. Y., won first prize over all the red setters. Mr. Callendar holds him at five thousand dollars.

The Red Irish were abundant and the best collection ever displayed to the view of the public. The first prize was awarded to the Baltimore Kennel Club who exhibited the champion "Derg" four years old.

The display of mastiffs, St. Bernards and Siberians was very creditable. These were giants some weighing over two hundred pounds.

The lot of pug's was a beautiful one, also that of the Italian greyhounds, but the display of terriers was not meritorious as regards quality.

Quite a number of ladies were found admiring the little pugs. Making my way through a crowd to a party of ladies that surrounded a kennel I saw the object of their admiration. It was the little pug "Bothnia," three years old, entered by Miss Henrietta Brownell, of Providence, R. I., who placed the sum of ten thousand dollars against its name on the catalogue.

"Bothnia" filled the eyes of the ladies as well as the judges for they awarded her the first prize. Special prizes were awarded to little "Nell" the beautiful pug owned by Mrs. W. H. Beadle, of New York.

The Bench Show has been a grand success. Yesterday afternoon the committee paid the prizes in gold to the amount of two thousand and fifty dollars. Giving besides ninety-three medals.

The pleasant event of the Bench Show will long be remembered by all lovers of the canine family who in the future will look forward to their annual reunion with much pleasure.

Over seven hundred entries have already been made for the coming show to be held at Philadelphia on the 21st of April, under the auspices of the Philadelphia Kennel Club, which promises to be as great a success as the one just closed.

Very respectfully,

J. D. C.

MRS. MARY MOON.

A SKETCH OF THE FEMALE REVIVALIST.

From the Hoosier State---Kansas Her Home---Ordained a Minister ---She Comes to North Carolina---The Extent of Her Work.

The subject of this sketch has been carrying on the work of the revivalist in this State with great power and acceptance at intervals, during the past two years. The State Press has teemed with accounts of her work but no sketch of her life has yet been published. The NEWS has deemed it of interest to lay before its readers a few particulars of this lady's experience. An interview was kindly granted the reporter by Mrs. Moon last night.

HER APPEARANCE.

In stature she is of average height and rather inclined to corpulency. Her face is quite prepossessing, her complexion fair, eyes large blue, and her hair flaxen. She is of middle age and talks fluently but in the quaker style; she was very modest and did not seem anxious to parade her history before the public. The reporter after a most faithful exercise of his wits, succeeded in putting together the following little narrative.

HER LIFE.

Mrs. Moon was born in Indiana, where she spent the early portion of her life. Before she became of age the family moved to Kansas, which State she claims as her home.

In the county of Lyon, on a quiet little farm Mr. and Mrs. Moon spent their first few years of married life. It happened that a series of very interesting and impressive meetings were going on in the neighborhood, and Mrs. Moon was a regular and much concerned attendant. Finally the weight of her guilt that had been so heavy upon her was suddenly lifted and from that time she dates the beginning of her conversion.

For a while it seemed very bright and happy, "but soon I began to

SHRINK FROM MY PLAIN DUTY,

said she, "and for three long, dreary years, I traveled a dark road. I don't like to look back over those hours now; but after awhile I sought comfort and help from above, and ever since that time, I have felt as if I was moved by Divine power, my labors seem to have been crowned with wonderful success wherever I went."

For a while in the early stage of her conversion, Mrs. Moon "exercised" some before she was regularly ordained a minister, which occurred in Jasper county, Mo. in 1874, but she did not even then consider herself as wholly consecrated to her work, she "occasionally shrank back and would and it was not until about three years ago that the season of uninterrupted peace of soul and entire devotion to her work set in.

The first year of her ministry was carried on in Indiana. From place to place she, with her husband and little family, would go where they were called. They had no regular place of abode. In the early winter of 1877 she was called to this State and spent the whole of that season in her religious work. She returned to Indiana last summer, and again being importuned by numerous of the churches of this State last fall, she came back and has been steadily pursuing her Evangelical work ever since.

She has been most actively engaged in the work and has conducted large meetings in Charlotte, Winston, High Point, Greensboro, Goldsboro, and a number of other places. Her efforts have been most successfully rewarded, having been instrumental in the conversion of over five hundred souls during the past few months.

HER WORK IN RALEIGH.

Mrs. Moon is not feeling well. She is much worn with the fatigue consequent upon so much incessent labor, and she feels that it will be necessary for her to take a short respite from her work. She is very much encouraged at the prospect of her work here. "Of course," said she, "it is not as good as we would desire. There are eight converts and nine out seekers, so far; and as soon as the church becomes thoroughly stirred on the subject we may look for a large number of converts." She has a number of requests from other churches in the State, but as yet has not decided where she will go next. Possibly to Wilmington.

A Call for Conservatism.

Vicksburg Herald.

If there ever was a time when the Southern people should labor to break down sectional and race prejudice, that time is now. We don't want a "Solid North" against a "Solid South," and it is very hurtful to have race arrayed against race in the South. The Conservatives of both races in the South have a grave responsibility on them. Will they be equal to it?

The Wilmington and Norfolk Canal.

Wilmington Sun.

Capt. F. W. Frost, chief engineer of the water routes, who had been in the city for some days past, left yesterday for Newport, a station on the A. & N. C. railroad, where he will be joined by a party for the purpose of surveying the route for the proposed canal from Norfolk to this city.

The Fourth Anniversary.

Correspondence of the News,

RALEIGH, April 16th.—To-morrow begins the fourth year of our arrival in the city of Raleigh. On the 17th of April, 1876, we opened at our present stand, a "Regular Boot and Shoe Store," and selected as our motto, "A Good Shoe at a Low Price." Please permit us through your valuable paper to express to the citizens of Raleigh and vicinity, especially the ladies, our most sincere thanks for the liberal patronage they have bestowed on us, and at the same time to inform them that we have largely increased our stock of boots and shoes of all kinds; having recently received from the leading manufacturers a very full and varied line of all the latest and most fashionable Spring and Summer styles for ladies, gentlemen and the children. We are also pleased to note a very marked reduction in prices. As an instance we would quote a very good gaiter at $1, formerly sold at $2. Ladies Newports at $1.25, former price $2.25.

Again thanking the Raleigh public for past favors, we shall be happy to continue to receive the same.

JOHN B. HUSSEY, - - Editor.

THURSDAY - - - - APRIL 17, 1879.

WILL THE PRESIDENT VETO THE ARMY BILL.

Again it is announced "by authority" that the President will sign the army bill as it passed the House.

And again it is emphatically asserted "by authority" that he will veto the bill if it reaches him in the shape in which it passed the House. Debate on the bill in the Senate commenced Monday and if the temper of the Republicans in and out of Congress furnishes a proper base for an opinion as to the Executive will, the premature announcement of the veto is correct. If the veto comes, it will be a veto unprecedented in our history. It is idle to say that the President ought to exercise the extraordinary veto power because of the form in which a bill comes to him. That is wholly within the discretion of the Congress. To veto a measure attached to an appropriation bill, for example, which the President would not veto if separated from an appropriation bill, would be the grossest abuse of the veto power, and would really be an act of usurpation. The manner of enacting measures is for the consideration of Congress, not for that of the Executive. "All legislative powers hereic granted," in the earliest words of the Constitution, "shall be vested in a Congress of the United States." The President has no original or affirmative legislative power. He certainly would not presume to block the will of the legislative power of the Government because he did not approve the shape in which it should come. It is no business of his whether or not legislation is attached to appropriation Bills. It will not, then, be the form of the thing, but the thing itself is vetoed, if there shall be a veto. What is the thing to be vetoed? Simply the striking out of eight words in the Revised Statues of the United States which authorize the presence of the Federal Army at the polls. It is the repeal of a law, and of such a law, that it is said the President will veto.

A President might well veto a bill authorizing the presence of Federal muskets at the polls, but to veto a bill repealing such authority would be an Executive outrage upon civil liberty. What President ever vetoed a repeal of a law? The repeal of a law can not be hasty, aud, certainly, can not be unconstitutional. In the two vetoes of Washington, the five vetoes of Madison, the one of Monroe, the seven of Jackson, the five of Tyler, the three of Polk, the four of Pierce, the one of Buchanan, is there any symptom of a precedent for vetoing the repeal of a statute? And if the veto of the repeal of a statute were ever tolerable, the veto of the repeal of such a statute would be intolerable. Representive Armfield, of the 7th District, presented this point very clearly in his brief remarks on the Army bill, printed some days ago in the NEWS.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT.

In the face of all disparaging comment, Mr. Edison persistently declares that the electric light will be made a perfect success. The delay which has followed his first confident announcement has been held by many to augur ill for his plans; but the inventor smilingly disproves any assertions he holds worthy of notice, at the same time generally giving the date at which the public will be taken into his confidence and push ahead. Mr. Edison understands the principle involved in this case as well, perhaps, as any man living, and he knows very well where the weak points are in the matter of electric illumination. Under those circumstances his statements have a peculiar weight. He, says, first, that he has maintained a coil of platinum at an incandescent point for nineteen consecutive hours, without causing it to show the slightest change; second, that he has proved this degree of incandescence not to be dangerously near the melting point, and that his regulator gives him simple and complete control over the currant; third, that his division of the electric current is perfect. These points conceded, the recognized obstacles in the way of electric illumination can no longer be urged. But the inventor claims more. He asserts that he can make a machine which will furnish double the electricity of a Wallace or a Gramme machine to the horse power, and that he has already greatly improved on them. This is an important step. Mr. Edison is a keenly practical man, and his latest assertion is that an illuminator, soft and mellow as sunlight, will be furnished by his process at one-third the cost, per candle power, of gas. This looks as if it would not be many months before the little glass bulbs, about the size of an average Messina orange, which he has adopted, will be among the familiar belongings of many a home. Every invention such as this promises to be is in the interest of the people, and will be welcomed accordingly.

THE WORLD'S FAIR AT NEW YORK.

The project of a world's fair in New York in 1883 is already so far advanced that there is little doubt the exhibition will be a credit to tha city and to the nation. The National Board of Trade has forwarded invitations to the Governors and Mayors throughout the country inviting them te send commissioners to a great national convention to be held on the 17th of June next. It is evident that the fullest co-operation of all sections of the country is to be sought to make the display, so far as the United States is concerned, a magnificent one. That a stimulus is given to industry by these grand international exhibitions is undeniable, and it is said Philadelphia will not be backward in lending encouragement to this enterprise.

THE House has opened the door to general legislation, but how it is to be accomplished is not exactly clear. The obstructions seem to be masters of the situation. How the thing was worked on Monday appears from our Washington letter this morning.

A VERY important announcement is made by the New York Graphic, that is, from the Radical standpoint. It is stated that Grant positively declines to be a candidate for the Presidency in 1880. This determination, if the ex-President is correctly reported, will materially change the complexion of affairs in the Republican camp. The Grant canvass has been pushed so energetically and his name everywhere met with such favor among the stalwart Republicans, that his nomination was regarded as a foregone conclusion. In fact, there was no recognized opposition to him, Conkling, Blaine, Washburne and other aspirants cheerfully giving in their adhesion to the Grant movement. After the canvass had proceeded so far it will create much surprise and no little consternation to know that the "old man" will not make the race after all. The real reason of Grant's withdrawal is, no doubt, his belief that he would be defeated if he was placed in nomination. The same thing is true of any other candidate the Republican party may select, but that fact will not prevent others from seeking the nomination. The woods will soon be full of them.

The New York Financial Chronicle discusses the cotton trade as follows:

The chief element of strength has been the statistical position, conveying the impression that at the present rate of consumption supplies will not hold out for the remainder of the season, and that there is no alternative but to force prices up until consumption be reduced. The Southern markets have all advanced sharply. Another element of strength has has been developed in reports from the Mississippi valley, that an extensive emigration movement of the freedmen from that section to the State of Kansas is in progress, threatening a serious disorganization of labor for the coming season. The published accounts of this movement are somewhat alarming, but is not believed that much inconvenience will be felt, except in a few localities, and no serious obstacle will be interposed to the cultivation of the next crop of cotton. Compared with the corresponding week of last season, there is a decrease in the exports this week of 57,991 bales, while the stocks to-night are 34,000 bales less than they were at this time a year ago.

To the above remarks of the Chronicle it may be added that the raw material has affected all kinds of cotton goods manufactured at the East, and the prices for sheetings, shirtings, prints, etc., have been varying for some time past.

THE agitation for new bankrupt law is extending. The Boston Board of Trade has appointed a committee to prepare the draft of a new national bankrupt law, and has requested the Chamber of Commerce of New York and similar organizations in other cities to co-operate in securing the passage of such a law. The New York Chamber has decided to appoint a committee for this purpose. The objection to the law which was repealed was that it protected one side and defrauded the other. As the Boston Post well says, it spread out temptations thickly for deceit and fraud. In consequence, it seriously deranged business by unsettling its foundations. The people grew weary of seeing such practices protected by it as were visibly multiplying in all directions, to the confusion of all legitimate trade relations. They preferred by far the outright abrogation of the law, with a space afterward for reflection. Now the great need of a national bankrupt law that will operate equitably on the debtor and creditor is seriously felt, and a general movement has been inaugurated to bring about the adoption by Congress of such a measure.

NOTWITHSTANDING, the pressure of the food question, the emigration from Great Britain has been small during the last five or six years, as compared with the previous similar period. The total emigration in 1863 was 223,768 of which number 146,813 came to the United States. The proportion coming to the United States steadily increased year by year until 1873, in which year the total emigration from the United Kingdom reached 310,612, of whom 233,073 came to the United States. In the last two years the total immigration to this country from the whole United Kingdom has been small. In the year to June 30, 1877, it was only 38,150 and in the year to June 30, 1878, it was only 38,082.

THE necessities of the negroes who have blindly rushed to Kansas are exciting the practical sympathy of the benevolent in many parts of the country, and organized effort is being made to relieve their more pressing wants. Another proposition which should be immediately acted upon, is to send intelligent and honest men to their several proposed places of settlement, to assist them in the beginning of their labors. Whether or not the action of these colored people has been wise is not now the question. It is enough to know that they are suffering to insure them aid at once.

IF ANY one has for a moment entertained the notion that the English Government was getting discouraged with the war in South Africa, the events of the last few days ought to undeceive them. The purchase of five hundred mules in this country for use against the Zulns shows that a stubborn prosecution of the campaign is certain. There is a grim sort of humor in this move of the English, too. They are evidently laying a trap for Cetywayo's men. Should the blacks happen to approach this American reinforcement from the rear, they would find a surprise in store for them scarcely less disastrous than some of those they have inflicted on the British.

THE war between Chilli on the one side and Peru and Bolivia on the other is not to be alone a contest of the soldiery of the three Powers. Chilli has credit; both of the other nations are without it. The result will be likely to prove that the little republic has unally more potent than unpaid battalions.

THE number of land-owners in France is more than five million. The permanent prosperity of a country is, doubtless, largely dependent upon such a general distribution of the land. The greater the number of holdings the deeper is the national patriotism, while the material interests are less fluctuating than where the tendency is to the tenant system.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

HAIR DRESSING,

Dread and despair fall upon the community when a terrible epidemic, like the cholera or yellow fever, suddenly desolates our homes, yet, all the while, a more insidious, but no less fatal foe, enters thousands of households every year and carries off the flower of the family in the early flush of manly youth and budding womanhood. People call it presumption, or "decline,". It is not, in most cases, the tubercular phthisis or consumption of the lungs, which is the peculiar malady in climates like those of that British Islands and New England, but a general decay or arrest of the vital processes of nutrition. All the doctors agree that there is no remedy for this but Cod Liver Oil but they are constantly met by the obstacle of inability on the part of the patient to swallow or retain it. This repulsion is entirely overcome by Scott's Emulsion of the Oil with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda which is agreeable to the taste and an unequaled nutrient and tonic for the body, nerves and brain.

I offer for sale a Handsome CHESTNUT MARE, five running, walker under saddle and in better condition in harness either single or double, 16 hands, 9 inch and an easy driver.

Also, a fine BAY SADDLE HORSE 5 years old, 15¾ hands, earless.

Also, and better, a fine BAY HARNESS HORSE 6 years old 15¾ hands, fast trotter best in the city, not afraid of anything, warranted sound, true and kind in all harness.

The above Horses are consigned and will be pleased to have parties to examine them.

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

Celebrated American

WORM SPECIFIC

OR

VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy, not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist, DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE will certainly effect a cure.

IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

The genuine DR. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrapper. —:o:—

DR. C. McLANE'S

LIVER PILLS

are not recommended as a remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," but in affections of the liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia and Sick Headache, or diseases of that character, they stand without a rival.

AGUE AND FEVER.

No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking Quinine.

As a simple purgative they are unequaled.

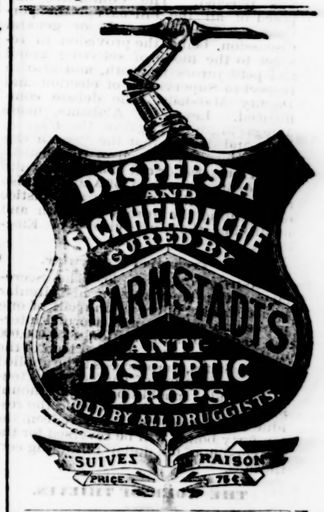
BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

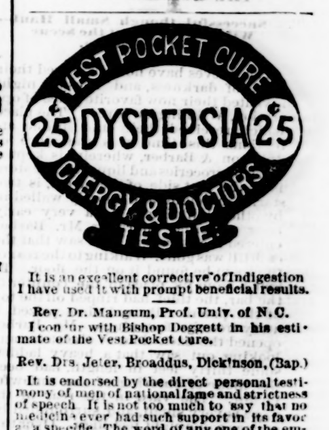
The genuine are never sugar coated.

Each box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

Each wrapper bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS.

Insist upon having the genuine Dr. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.





It is an excellent corrective of Indigestion I have used it with prompt beneficial results.

Rev. Dr. Mangum, Prof. Univ. of N. C.

I con cur with Bishop Doggett in his estimate of the Vest Pocket Cure.

Rev. Drs. Jeter, Broaddus, Dickinson, (Bap.)

It is endorsed by the direct personal testimony of men of national fame and strictness of speech. It is not too much to say that no medicine ever had such support in its favor as a specific. The word of any one of the eminent divines who underwrite this antidote to dyspepsia has deserved weight. Their united witness joined with the experimental use and approval of the preparation by well-known physicians, removes all doubt. It is beyond question a wonderful therapeutical agent.—Baptist Religious Herald, Va.

Chaplain Randolph Macon College, Va.

Many cases of Dyspepsia within my knowledge have been cured by it. Cramps, Colics, Headaches and all sorts of pains from indigestion yield promptly to it. The cures of this sort are unparalleled.

Rev. R. L. Dabney, L. L. D. Ham. Sid. Col., Va.

It is highly esteemed here by the regular Medical Faculty and the people. It is excellent for Indigestion and Flatulent Colic, sedative, sopritic, tonic, slightly aperent, without nausea.

Rev. B. F. Woodward, P. E., Na. Conf,

About twelve years I suffered from Dyspepsia. Failing in with this remedy, I gave it a fair trial. After its use I could eat anything without pain, and I am sure I am indebted to this medicine for what of health and physical comfort I have had for the last sixteen years. I have known many since to be relieved by its use.

Rev. Robert W. Watts, A. M., Va.

I have used the mixture in my family for years, and have taken it for a Dyspepsia Colic, which threatened my life, and was cured, eating any diet without hurt. I have recommended it to other sufferers with happy results. It is the best tonic and corrective I ever knew. For protection from Dyspepsia or Liver Disease it is invaluable.

J. D. Eggleston, M. D., Va.

It is a highly valuable remedy, and is more extensively used than any single article in the whole list of medicines, so far as I observe in my practice, for all the complaints it familiarly from indigestion, I use it and recommend it.

Editor Richmond Christian Advocate.

This remedy is of tried virtue. I have seen Dyspepsia cured completely by it. It seems to be in all cases upon "Nation's Disease." The Ingredients are not kept by the apothecaries and have been difficult to get.

Price 25 cents per bottle. Sold by all druggists. In Raleigh, by Business men and others in need of Book and Job Printing of any kind should remember that the NEWS Job Office is the place to have it done neatly, cheaply and at the shortest notice.

Our country is getting to be fearfully alarming, the average of life being lessened every year, without any reasonable cause, death resulting generally from the most insignficant organ. At this season of the year especially, a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it and often find too late that a fever or lung trouble has already set in. Thousands lose their lives in this way every winter, while had Boschee's German Syrup been taken, a cure would have resulted, and a large bill from a doctor been avoided. For all diseases of the throat and lungs, Boschee's German Syrup has proved itself to be the greatest discovery of its kind in medicine. Every Druggist in this country will tell you of its wonderful effect. Over 950,000 bottles sold last year without a single failure known.

A Remedy that has been Remedied.

The invincible repugnance felt by almost every one to the smell and flavor of cod Liver Oil, has prevented tens of thousands of the victims of debility, from reaping the benefits of its peculiar healing and nutritive properties. The almost hopeless consumptive, the martyr to rheumatism, the baby living shadow of men, women and children that emerge from the clutches of malarial fevers, all of these know, or at least their doctors know, that of all discovered remedies, this Oil is the best and often the only one that will build up their wasted bodies, and restore their shattered nerves, and far more effective than the Oil by itself is Scott's Emulsion of it, with the hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. This is the onesand most natural food and medicine in the orld, and wholly deprived of its disagreeable qualities. Sold by Wm. Simpson, Druggist.

MEDICINES.

LIVER

This important organ weighs but about three pounds, and all the blood in a living person about three gallons) passes through it at least once every half hour, to have the bile and other impurities strained or filtered from it. Bile is the natural purgative of the bowels, and if the Liver becomes torpid it is not separated from the blood, but carried through the veins to all parts of the system, and in trying to escape through the pores of the skin, causes it to turn yellow or a dirty brown color. The stomach becomes diseased, and Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Jaundice, Chills, Malarial Fevers, Piles, Sick and Sour Stomach, and general debility follow. MERRELL'S HEPATINE, the great vegetable discovery for torpidity, causes the Liver to throw off from one to two ounces of bile every time the blood passes through it, as long as there is an excess of bile; and the effect of even a few doses upon yellow complexion or a brown dirty looking skin, will astonish all who try it—they being the first symptoms to disappear. The cure of all bilious diseases and Liver complaint is made certain by taking HEPATINE in accordance with directions. Headache is generally cured in twenty minutes, and no disease that arises from the Liver can exist if a fair trial is given.

GLOBE FLOWER SYRUP.

LUNGS

The fatality of Consumption or Throat and Lung Diseases, which sweep to the grave at least one-third of all death's victims, arises from the Opium or Morphine treatment, which simply stupefies as the work of death goes on. $10,000 will be paid if Opium or Morphine, or any preparation of Opium, Morphine or Prussic Acid, can be found in the GLOBE FLOWER COUGH SYRUP, which has cured people who are living to-day with but one remaining lung. No greater wrong can be done than to say that Consumption is incurable. GLOBE FLOWER COUGH SYRUP will cure it when all other means have failed. Also, Colds, Cough, Asthma, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and lungs. Read the testimonials of the Hon. Alexander H. Stephens, Gov. Smith and Ex-Gov. Brown of Ga., Hon. Geo. Peabody, as well as those of other remarkable cures in our book, free to all at the drug stores, and be convinced that if you wish to be cured you can be by taking the GLOBE FLOWER COUGH SYRUP. Take no Troches or Lozenges for Sore Throat, when you can get GLOBE FLOWER SYRUP at same price. For sale by all Druggists.

BLOOD

Grave mistakes are made in the treatment of all diseases that arise from poison in the blood. Not one case of Scrofula, Syphilis, White Swelling, Ulcers, Sores and Skin Disease, in a thousand, is treated without the use of Mercury in some form. Mercury rots the bones, and the diseases it produces are worse than any other kind of blood or skin disease can be. DR. PEMBERTON'S STILLINGIA OR QUEEN'S DELIGHT is the only medicine that gives a hope of recovery from Syphilis and Mercurial diseases. All pretenders can be reasonably founded, and the true Cure Confirmed. $10,000 will be paid by the proprietors if Mercury, or any ingredient not purely vegetable and harmless can be found in it.

Meeting of the Board of Agriculture.

The Board met pursuant to adjournment, yesterday morning, in the Governor's office, and was in session all day long. The reports of the sub-departments were again considered and approved. The work has been most satisfactorily carried on by the Commissioner, the State Chemist, and Fish Commissioner. The duties of State Geologist were defined and duly incorporated in the by-laws. It was decided that the work of the fish commission was important and that it be continued. The time of the Board was mainly occupied in shaping its by-laws to conform to the amendments of the General Assembly affecting the Department of Agriculture. It was an important meeting and occupied the undivided time of the Board for two days.

The Coke-Fisher Marriage.

Last evening at 5 o'clock a quiet marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Pritchard at the residence of Mrs. Jefferson Fisher, the bride's mother. The contracting parties being Col. Octavius Coke, of Chowan, and Miss Kate Fisher, of this City. The marriage was very private, only a few of the most intimate friends being present. There was no waiters. Col. Coke was accompanied by Gov. Jarvis, Col. Andrews and Col. W. L. Saunders. Mr. T. H. Briggs, Col. B. P. Williamson, Mr. W. G. Upchurch and Mr. A. D. Jenkins' all particular friends of the bride's family, were present.

The newly married couple will remain at the bride's home a few days when they will make an extended bridal tour north.

The School Bill.

The Attorney General has rendered a lengthy opinion on the legal bearings of the unsigned school law. A copy of the opinion was received at this office after midnight, and with the press of other matter it was impossible to lay it before the readers of the NEWS this morning. The conclusions of the Attorney General are thus summed up:

"I think, therefore, the School Bill should be signed now, after adjournment. And I wish to be understood that I give this opinion upon the facts in this case obtained from the public records in the Secretary of State's office, which fully warrant it. The school law is one in which all our people are concerned, and it is fair to presume that the Legislature intended to advance the educational interest by passing the bill in question. It should be signed and published among the acts of 1879, and if its validity is then doubted, the question would be decided by the courts in a properly constituted case."

The Old Old Home.

By Rev. P. Roberts.

When I long for sainted memories,
like angel troops they come,
If I fold my arms and ponder on the old
old home,
For the heart hath many passages through which the feelings roam,
But its middle aisle is sacred to the old
old home.

CHORUS.

Oh! the old old home! oh, the old old home!
But its middle aisle is sacred to the old
old home.

Where infancy was sheltered, like rosebuds from the blast,
And childhood's brief elysian in joyousness passed;
To that sweet spot forever, as to some hallowed dome,
Life's pilgrim bends his vision on the old, old home.

CHORUS.

Oh! the old, old home!!
Life's pilgrim bends his vision on the
old, old home.

There a father sat, how proudly, by that hearthstone's rays,
And told his children stories of his early manhood days,
And one soft eye was beaming, from child to child 'twould roam,
Thus a mother counts her treasures in
the old, old home.

CHORUS.

Oh! the old, old home!!
Thus a mother counts her treasures in
the old, old home.

The birthday gifts and festivals, the blended vesper hymn,
One dear one who was hymning it is with the seraphim,
The fond good nights at bed time; how quiet sleep would come
And fold us all together in the old, old home.

CHORUS.

Oh! the old, old home!!
And fold us all together in the old, old
home.

Like a wreath of scented flowers, close entwined each heart,
But time and change in concert each have blown the wreath apart,
Yet faithful, sainted memories, like angels ever come,
If I fold my arms and ponder on the
old, old home.

CHORUS.

Oh! the old, old home!!
If I fold my arms and ponder on the
old, old home.

Raleigh, N. C.

Given up by the Doctors.

"Is it possible that Mr. Godfres is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?"

"I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters; and only ten days ago his doctors gave him up and said he must die!"

"Well-a-day! That is remarkable! I will go this day and get some for my poor George—I know hops are good."

The Greatest Blessing.

A simple, pure, harmless remedy, that cures every time, and prevents disease by keeping the blood pure, stomach regular, kidneys and liver active, is the greatest blessing ever conferred upon man. Hop Bitters is that remedy, and its proprietors are being blessed by thousands who have been saved and cured by it. Will you try it? See another column.

Horace Greeley's bad penmanship has passed into a proverb. No description of it without a fac-simile of the writing could convey any idea of its illegibility. It is charitable, however, to the old philosopher to suppose that the fault lay with the pens he had been accustomed to use, but what a world of grief and trouble would have been saved to the compositors if he had written his editorials witheran Easta brook Falcon Pen.

Pool & Hunt.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of Pool & Hunt, the most extensive turbine water wheel builders in the country. This firm has been in successful operation for the past thirty-six years, and from the smallest beginning have grown to be on of the best known engine, water-wheel and mill builders in the United States. There are nearly ten thousand of their wheels in use and with the great reduction made in prices last month they expect to do a largely increased business this year. They invite correspondence from all in want of machinery and will send their large new pamphlet free.

The Celebrated Seven Springs Iron and Alum Mass.

This is decidedly the most useful, besides being the most efficient Family Medicine ever placed within the reach of any people. Its reputation extends far and wide, and its great popularity is due entirely to its own merits. For relieving Sick and Nervous Headache, it may be truly said, to have no equal. Dyspepties find it just the remedy for their troubles. Mothers and daughters have long since discovered in its use a "panacea" for their worst ills; and now we have the testimonies of two eminent ministers of the gospel, from Southern cities, setting forth its specific effects in other more dreaded and troublesome diseases.

Rev. John F. Mayne, Theological Seminary, Columbia, S. C., writes: "Am afflicted with that terrible disease, 'Diabetes;' am using the 'Seven Springs Mass' with a considerable degree of relief; is the only remedy I have yet found to suit my case; want to continue its use until a cure is effected if possible. Send worth of the enclosed P. O. order immediately.

Rev. J. D. Parker, of New Orleans, La., writes: "Having tried effectually the 'Seven Springs Iron and Alum Mass,' for Diarhea, Kidney afflictions, &c., I take pleasure in recommending its use in these complaints. In my case it affords immediate relief.

Unheard of Bargains!

Who tries his best to please his friends
And in his labors never ends,
Bargains he'll give you when you call
For No. 10 is all and all.
Of other houses you hear them talk;
In Fayetteville street just take a walk
And only ask for No. 10,
Kept by the most ingenious of men,
And when his friends by chance drop in
Then forth he comes, Lord what a grin,
And to their wondering eyes displays
Such heaps of brackets and window shades.
His pictures are exposed to public view
And a variety of cord to suspend them too,
His looking glasses and toilet cases
Will help adorn your forms and faces;
Picture frames and mouldings too
In great variety, black, brown and blue.
His window cornices and lambrequins fine,
Will make your rooms and parlor shine.
Perforated mottoes, and white holly baskets.
And every other sort of stuff,
Of which he hopes to have enough.
So now he bids you all adieu
And wishes a happy new year too,
And not forget

REMARKABLE cure of an Inflamed ear duct or passage to the eye, without an operation.—Mrs. Gibson, who has a large an extensive confectionery and candy store No. 25 East 42d Street, near the Grand Central Depot, was about to have a silver tube inserted in the tear passage of her left eye. The enlargement and inflamation were very great. Before submitting to the operation, tried Dr. Gill's Liniment, running carefully over the inflamed duct. The inflamation disappeared, the passage became clear, and was through its power able to do without a surgical operation. Also took the Liniment internally, a teaspoonful three times a day, in a wine glass of water. Sold by all druggists.

WHAT I KNOW ABOUT VEGETINE.

SOUTH BOSTON, May 9, 1870.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.:

Dear Sir—I have had considerable experience with the VEGETINE. For dyspepsia, general debility, and impure blood, the VEGETINE is superior to anything which I have ever used. I commenced taking VEGETINE about the middle of last winter, and, after using a few bottles, it entirely cured me of dyspepsia, and my blood never was in so good condition as at the present time. It will afford me pleasure to give any further particulars relative to what I know about this good medicine to any one who will call or address me at my residence, 386 Athens street.

Very respectfully,
MONROE PARKER,
386 Athens street.

Dyspepsia.

SYMPTOMS.—Want of appetite, rising of food and wind from the stomach, acidity of the stomach, heartburn, dryness and whiteness of the tongue in the morning, sense of distension in the stomach and bowels, sometimes rumbling and pain; costiveness, which is occasionally interrupted by diarrhœa; paleness of the urine. The mouth is clammy, or has a sour or bitter taste. Other frequent symptoms are waterbrash, palpitation of the heart, headache, and disorders of the senses, as seeing double, etc. There is general debility, languor and aversion to motion; dejection of the spirits, disturbed sleep, and frightful dreams.

Gained Fifteen Pounds of Flesh.

SOUTH BERWICK, Me., Jan. 17, 1872.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.:

Dear Sir—I have had dyspepsia in its worst form for the last ten years, and have taken hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine without obtaining any relief. In September last I commenced taking the VEGETINE, since which time my health has steadily improved. My food digests well, and I have gained fifteen pounds of flesh. There are several others in this place taking the VEGETINE, and all have obtained relief.

Yours truly,
THOMAS E. MOORE,
Overseer of Card Room, Portsmouth Co.'s Mills.

FEEL MYSELF A NEW MAN.

NATICK, Mass., June 1, 1872.

Mr. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—Through the advice and earnest persuasion of the Rev. E. S. Best, of this place, I have been taking VEGETINE for dyspepsia, of which I have suffered for years.

I have used only two bottles, and already feel myself a new man. Respectfully,

DR. J. W. CARTER.

GOOD EVIDENCE.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 26, 1872.

Mr. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—The two bottles of VEGETINE furnished me by your agent my wife has used with great benefit.

For a long time she has been troubled with dizziness and costiveness; these troubles are now entirely removed by the use of VEGETINE. She was also troubled with dyspepsia and general debility, and has been greatly benefited.

THOMAS GILMORE,
229½ Walnut street.

RELIABLE EVIDENCE.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—I will most cheerfully add my testimony to the great number you have already received in favor of your great and good medicine, VEGETINE, for I do not think enough can be said in its praise, for I was troubled over thirty years with that dreadful disease, Catarrh, and had such bad coughing spells that it would seem as though I could never breathe any more, and VEGETINE has cured me, and I do feel to thank God all the time that there is so good a medicine as VEGETINE, and I also think it one of the best medicines for coughs and weak sinking feelings at the stomach, and advise everybody to take the VEGETINE, for I can assure them it is one of the best medicines that ever was.

MRS. L. GORE.
Corner Magazine and Walnut streets,
Cambridge, Mass.

APPRECIATION.

CHARLESTOWN, Mass., March 19, 1869.

H. R. STEVENS:

This is to certify that I have used your "Blood Preparation" (VEGETINE) in my family for several years, and think that, for Scrofula or Cankerous Humors or Rheumatic affections, it cannot be excelled; and as a blood purifier and spring medicine it is the best thing I have ever used; and I have used almost everything. I can cheerfully recommend it to any one in need of such a medicine. Yours respectfully,

MRS. A. A. DINSMORE,
19 Russell street.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Family Physic, and for curing Costiveness, Jaundice, Indigestion, Foul Stomach, Breath, Headache, Erysipelas, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, for Purifying the Blood,

Are the most effective and congenial purgative ever discovered. They are mild, but effectual in their operation, moving the bowels surely and without pain. Although gentle in their operation, they are still the most thorough and searching cathartic medicine that can be employed: cleansing the stomach and bowels, and even the blood. In small doses of one pill a day, they stimulate the digestive organs and promote vigorous health.

AYER'S PILLS have been known for more than a quarter of a century, and have obtained a world-wide reputation for their virtues. They correct diseased action in the several assimilative organs of the body, and are so composed that obstructions within their range can rarely withstand or evade them. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of everybody, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have baffled the best of human skill. While they produce powerful effects, they are, at the same time, the safest and best physic for children. By their aperient action they gripe much less than the common purgatives, and never give pain when the bowels are not inflamed. They reach the vital fountains of the blood, and strengthen the system by freeing it from the elements of weakness.

Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, these Pills may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar-coating preserves them ever fresh, and makes them pleasant to take; while being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.
